OLYMPIC CHALLENGE

WILL YOU WIN A GOLD, SILVER OR BRONZE IN 2012 ?

All the best athletes and sportsmen and women are already well into their training for the 2012 Olympics, because they know that, to be their best and to achieve the highest level of performance, takes time and commitment. So it may only be 2010 now, but in two years time they will hopefully be ready to win Gold!

The new additional recognition from Investors in People provides you with the ideal opportunity for your organisation to get into training for 2012 too!

If you had your assessment or review in 2009, or are being reviewed in 2010, why not talk to your assessor or adviser about setting yourself targets to achieve Bronze, Silver or Gold recognition by 2012?

If your next review is due before 2012 you could achieve additional recognition then.....but if you want to make it special for Olympic year you could choose to plan to have an earlier review next time and perhaps achieve an even higher level!

You can start by putting together a plan identifying which areas of the Investors in People framework you want to work with that will help your organisation and its future success and then decide which 'medal' to aim for. Your assessor or adviser can help you do this.

There are also some really useful self-analysis and developmental tools on the Investors in People and Recognising Excellence Web sites. Contact your assessor, adviser or ring us directly to talk through the best course of action for you.

SO WHY NOT JOIN THE OTHER WINNERS ON THE PODIUM IN 2012?
